
Eileene Winters Writes

THE TOLUCAN • MARCH 2 9

The Back Alley Theatre in Van Nuys has a super thriller-comedy called "Are You Sure?" by Sam Bobrick, who wrote "Norman, is That You?" The play in the small theatre on Burbank Boulevard boasts some very big names.

Lois Nettleton, Broadway star who recently played Burt Reynolds' girlfriend in "Best Little Whorehouse In Texas," Ronny Cox, who has been seen in countless films and TV specials and was one of the stars of "The Onion Field" and Catherine McLeod, who was memorable in "I've Always Loved You" and many other films in the 50s.

Allan Miller directed and Laura Zucker produced the new play. I recommend it.

Thurs., March 3, 1983

VENICE-MARINA NEWS... CC INDEPENDENT... A6
B'WOOD-W'WOOD PRESS... WLA INDEPENDENT... A6

Speaking from Cheviot

Rancho Park-Cheviot Hills bounded by Castle Heights Avenue, National Boulevard, San Diego Freeway, Olympic Boulevard

By MARJORIE SCHWARTZ
838-7021

And more: Another theatre group that we love is the Back Alley Theatre, and I understand their new play is a smash. It's called "Are You Sure?" Believe me, we won't miss it!

□

QUOTE OF THE WEEK. Director Mel Shapiro to playwright Sam Bobrick via critic Sylvie Drake: "Show business is a series of reconciliations."
