Re: SUBURBAN ROMANCE
by Richard Caliban

Dear Laura:

Thanks for your letter of the 10th about the above.

I'm so pleased you enjoyed the play. It's really satisfying when someone else responds to special material in the same way you do. (I too love Duke, especially when he barks, "House eats stranger!".)

Richard Caliban is a young actor, newly turned playwright. He has several plays to his credit, all wildly different. He's only been produced at the Edinburgh Festival, and SUBURBAN ROMANCE is brand new and never been done at all.

I haven't had a chance to speak with Richard yet but I'm sure he would be open to working on the text. Let us know your further thoughts after Allan's finished reading the script.

My best to both of you,

Anna A. Marton
