A musical adventure for children
extends performances

The Daily News gives MAX & ZOEY 4 stars! "...a wonderful way for parents to introduce their 3- to 8-year-old children to theatre. It also may stimulate some worthwhile parent-child conversations. This 50-minute musical, which was commissioned by the Back Alley, consists of adaptations of two of Dion Holt's short stories by Will Holt. The first deals with chicken pox; the second, with the strange noises kids hear between the time Mom turns off the bedroom light and the time they finally fall asleep. In both cases, the Holts demystify the strange and scary."

Valley Family Magazine calls MAX & ZOEY "...a delightful musical. The theatre was filled with kids...the play's catchy tunes and clever lyrics, fine acting, and audience participation unfailingly held their attention...It's definitely fun-filled family theatre."

MAX & ZOEY is made possible by a special grant from Mervyn's.

Terri Girvin, Lisa Gates, Rick Spector
